Pomonan slain by suspected thieves

By JACK BURSON
PB Staff Writer

The son of a Pomona trucking company owner was shot to death Monday night when he interrupted two youths apparently attempting to steal truck parts, police said.

The slaying occurred at Base Transportation Inc.. 1573 W. Second St., shortly before 7 p.m.

The victim, James Michael Base, 20, was shot once in the neck and was pronounced dead at Pomona Valley Community Hospital despite the efforts of paramedics who treated him at the scene.

Base and his father, Ronald L. Base, 41, were working inside the trucking company garage when the victim heard a noise outside. His father said the young man walked to the doorway, yelled at someone outside and then ran out into the lot. About 10 seconds later, the senior Base said, he heard a shot and found his son lying on the ground, a bullet wound in the center of his neck.

Base said his son was conscious and that he stood up and spoke to him, but began to bleed heavily.

"I'll be all right," he said his son told him as he placed the young man back on the ground to await help.

Police described the suspects as two young blacks between 16 and 22 years old. Both were between 5 feet 10 and 5 feet 11 and weighed about 150 pounds. One wore a dark trench coat and the other wore a green-and-white knit cap and dark clothing.

Police were uncertain of the caliber of the weapon used, although it appeared to have been a small-caliber rifle or pistol. Only one shot was fired.

Persons in the area told police they saw two young men matching the description of the suspects driving away from the area in a 1965 or 1966 tan or light-blue Buick Skylark.

Wouldn't like to be patients in own hospitals

Survey of nurses cites shocking statistics

NEW YORK (AP) — A survey of 10,000 nurses found that 42 per cent said they had seen deaths among patients which they thought had been caused accidentally by doctors.

The survey, reported in the January issue of the magazine Nursing 77, also found that 15 per cent of the nurses said they had more than once seen deaths caused accidentally by doctors and that 18 per cent knew of deaths accidentally caused by nurses.

Thirty-eight per cent of the nurses wouldn't like to be patients in their own hospitals, the survey found.

It rated nursing care in the United States and Canada at a "low B" grade. The smaller the hospital, the survey indicated, the less the responding nurses thought of the care.

As for nursing homes, 55 per cent of responding nurses who worked in such institutions said they would not want to be patients where they work.

Nursing 77 reported that the nurses blamed insufficient staff, the burdens of paper work and other obligations that took time away from attending to patients as reasons why nursing care of patients is less than excellent.

The magazine last May published a "Probe of Quality Care," listing 78 questions and asking its nursing readers to respond to them. Those responses, more than 10,000 of them, formed the basis of the article in the current issue.

Concerning health care nationwide, said Nursing 77, 3 per cent of nurses rated it as excellent. Half said it was good, the magazine reported, while 42 per cent rated it as fair, and 5 per cent as poor.

The nurses rated physical care as good to high at their hospitals, the report said, but considered emotional or psychological support of patients and families as being only fair and sometimes poor.

Only about one-third of the responding nurses said they thought other nurses gave good or excellent psychological support to patients.

One nurse suggested a reason: "The physical (care) is stressed as all important. If we're found sitting in a patient's room offering support, we're not considered to be working — just talking."

Only 23 per cent said they thought doctors were good in providing emotional support for the sick.

Carter vows to lease or sell his peanut business

MISS LILLIAN GOES HOME

Lillian Carter, mother of President-elect Jimmy Carter, is helped into a car after being released from Sumter County Hospital in Americus, Ga., Monday afternoon.

To avoid any possible conflict of interest

PLAINS, Ga. (AP) — Confessing to "some regrets," President-elect Carter pledged today to free himself of any possible conflict of interest by turning over his prosperous peanut business to trustees who will lease or sell it.

Talking to reporters outside the headquarters office of his peanut marketing partnership operation, Carter said he felt he had to "bend over backwards" because "I don't want to have any decision I make as president have an effect on my income."

The president-elect made his comments as aides unveiled a tough ethics code for top government officials. Carter's own action in trying to build a wall between himself and the family business was in line with the measures he is requiring of others.

"It was a hard decision for me to make," Carter said, adding: "I don't have any regrets about it." After a pause he continued, "There are some regrets." He said he plans to remove himself so completely from the Carter's Warehouse partnership, which is the basis of the family fortune, that he will instruct its trustees "not to even inform me" if they sell the business.

At the same time, Carter expressed concern about the minority interests in the partnership of his brother Billy and mother, "Miss Lillian." But he said he felt certain the trustees would act in a way that would not "upset their lives too much."

The ethics code requires presidential nominees, starting with Cabinet members, to divest themselves of any holdings that could conflict with their government duties and to submit detailed statements of their personal wealth.

In addition, for the first time, they must sign a pledge to remain in government for their full appointed term, unless dismissed sooner. They also must agree that for two years after leaving government they will avoid any private job that would cause them to deal with their old departments or agencies on matters that concerned them as federal officials.

"It is the objective of the new administration to avoid any conflict which could in any way influence any government officer except in the even interest of all the people," said the written guidelines.

Another announcement said Carter's interest in Carter Farms Inc., which consists of agricultural real estate in this area, and Carter's Warehouse, a partnership that buys peanuts from area farmers for subsequent marketing, will be transferred to a special trust.

It was not immediately clear what would happen to $25,781 in common stocks owned by Carter's wife, Rosalynn. A Carter aide had said last September that Carter would sell his stock holdings if elected.

Carter's interest in Carter Farms was valued at $348,444 on Dec. 31, 1975, and his interest in Carter's Warehouse was valued at $330,062.

The land owned by Carter Farms will be retained in the trust so long as he is president and will be rented for an annual fixed amount.

"Thus," the announcement said, "the Carter family will not be affected financially from profits or losses of any of the farm operations."

Carter's Warehouse, in which the President-elect is the principal partner, while brother Billy and mother Lillian have minority interests, "will be either leased for four years for a fixed amount, or sold, at the discretion of the trustee," the announcement said.

Big S.S. hike

$10 billion income tax cut proposed by President

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford today proposed a $10 billion personal income tax cut along with corporate tax reductions and an increase in personal Social Security taxes. The package is nearly a carbon copy of tax cut proposals Congress rejected last year.

Like last year's package, the new proposal includes $2.5 billion in corporate tax reductions. It also calls for a $5.1 billion increase in personal Social Security taxes over a two-year period. Last year's proposal called for a $1.65 billion increase in personal Social Security taxes.

The administration proposal last year was linked to compensating cuts in spending. But this time, Ford's proposal was initially unclear on whether he would seek compensating spending cuts. Ford noted in a message to Congress that he will be sending up his spending proposals with his budget later this month.

Ford estimated his tax proposals would save $227-a-year for a family of four with an income of $15,000.

The Democratic controlled Congress is expected to await the economic stimulus plan of President-elect Carter rather than act on Ford's proposal.

Carter has indicated his program would focus on job creation. Ford's tax proposals were targeted at what the President called middle-income tax payers.

"The tax reductions of 1975 and 1976 focused tax relief on the lower income taxpayer," Ford said. "However, it is high time to focus substantial tax relief on middle-income taxpayers."

The package includes a proposal to increase the individual income tax exemption from the present $750 to $1,000, said L. William Seidman, the President's economic adviser.

Ford's proposed tax saving for individuals would be effective with the current year. It would be offset to some degree by increases in Social Security taxes effective next Jan. 1.

The Social Security tax rate for individuals currently is 5.85 per cent of income up to about $16,000. Under the Ford proposal, that rate would rise to 6.6 per cent by Jan. 1, 1980, although two-tenths of a per cent of that increase is already mandated by law.

The impact of the Social Security increases on a family of four with an income of $15,000, and only one wage earner in the family, would be about $112 in additional taxes in 1980 compared to this year.

N.Y. coffee boycott spreads to Midwest

By The Associated Press

A coffee boycott begun in New York City has spread to Ohio, Massachusetts and upstate New York, with supermarket chains urging consumers not to buy and providing discounts for substitutes — or for coffee.

Ohio's second largest supermarket chain, Liberal Markets Inc. with 40 stores in Dayton and Cincinnati, continued selling coffee at $2.59 per pound, but launched a newspaper-and-billboard advertising campaign Monday urging shoppers not to buy.

Shopwell Inc. in New York City is running ads in which the company president says, "The money you and I are being asked to pay for coffee is outrageous." The newspaper ads include 20-cent coupons for tea, cocoa or hot chocolate.

Advertisements for Boston's Stop-and-Shop Co. Inc. also included coupons — for coffee. The ads urged customers to find a substitute, but added, "If you must buy coffee, buy it only when it's on sale," and offered 70 cents off on a two-pound can.

In Syracuse, N.Y., on Monday, the Consumer Affairs Office announced that five major chains representing 33 area supermarkets had agreed to join the campaign.

The boycott began last week when New York City's Commissioner of Consumer Affairs, Elinor Guggenheimer, said that a 50 per cent cut in national coffee consumption would reduce prices. She said she was abstaining from her usual 14 cups a day.

Retail coffee prices around the country range up to $3, roughly twice the price of two years ago. Current wholesale prices are also at about $3, which means the retail price is still going up.

A crop-damaging freeze in 1975 in Brazil, the world's largest producer of coffee, has generally been blamed for triggering the price spiral. But Mann said he doubts it could be solely responsible for the rising prices.

3 druggists suing over lower prices

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Three druggists are suing Kaiser Foundation Hospitals and several affiliates, charging Kaiser sells prescription drugs for lower prices than retail pharmacies can afford to charge.

The class-action antitrust suit was filed Monday in Superior Court by Mario De Modena and two other pharmacists. It alleges the practice has been going on at least four years.

The suit claims wholesalers and distributors will not provide drugs to retail druggists at the same lower price offered Kaiser affiliates.

Son, 15, questioned

Doctor, two daughters slain, wife wounded

STOCKTON (AP) — A San Joaquin Valley doctor and his two daughters were shot to death, his wife was critically wounded, and their 15-year-old son was being questioned today, police said.

The shootings occurred shortly after 11 p.m. Monday at the home of Dr. M. Darril Opdahl in a fashionable residential neighborhood in Mirada, halfway between Stockton and Lodi.

Minutes later, Opdahl's son called Stockton police to report the shootings. A police offical refused to reveal the contents of the youth's phone conversation, saying it may be used as evidence later.

San Joaquin County Sheriff's Commander Arch Scheffel said young Opdahl was being questioned but had not been charged.

The youth's two sisters — tentatively identified as Susan, 17, and Carol, 19 — were found shot to death in their upstairs bedroom in the two-story home. They were pronounced dead at the scene by a neighbor who, like Opdahl, was a doctor.

Opdahl and his wife were found critically wounded in separate parts of the downstairs. Opdahl had been shot in the torso and his wife in the head. He died early today at St. Joseph's Hospital in Stockton.

Scheffel said all four persons apparently were shot with a handgun.

President postpones plan for ending gas price control

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford today postponed announcing his proposal for lifting price controls on gasoline until later this week. The move will set the stage for one more Ford battle with Congress before he leaves office.

Aides had said the announcement was expected today, but Deputy Press Secretary John Carlson told reporters: "The President has not made a final decision as to the time of transmitting the proposal to Congress."

Carlson said the announcement could come Thursday or later in the week.

Congress then will have 15 days in which to veto Ford's proposal. If Congress does not act, the lid will be off gas prices on Jan. 19, the day before Ford leaves office.

Gasoline is the last major oil product remaining under price control at the retail level. The ceilings were imposed in 1973 when petroleum shortages following the Arab oil boycott caused prices to rise.

Administration officials admit that avoiding a congressional veto may be a close call for Ford because of increasing sentiment among the lawmakers for leaving this issue to incoming Democratic President Carter.

There is wide disagreement about the impact of any end to price lids.

Mayor's race: a candidate and an issue

Surprise! Bradley will run again

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mayor Tom Bradley, who last month said he turned down a chance to serve in Jimmy Carter's cabinet because of his "love affair with Los Angeles," has made the expected announcement that he plans to run for reelection this year.

Bradley made it official Monday.

The mayor of the nation's third-largest city kicked off his campaign with an attack on his opponent, state Sen. Alan Robbins, D-North Hollywood. Bradley accused Robbins of using "unethical tactics" in blocking state redevelopment laws by employing a filibuster during the last session of the state legislature.

But Robbins denied he had been unethical in his effort to allow a public vote on the Los Angeles redevelopment plan.

He said he reintroduced a bill that would provide for a referendum on the development plan if 10 per cent of the registered voters sign petitions. But he acknowledged it was doubtful whether such a referendum could be achieved by the April 5 mayoral primary or the May 31 general election.

Robbins said Bradley opposes a public vote on redevelopment and has been "stuffing his pockets" with campaign donations from owners of new high-rise buildings within the redevelopment zone.

He said Bradley has about $200,000 in such contributions, including $150,000 from a January 1976 fund-raiser chaired by Atlantic Richfield Co. (ARCO) president Thornton Bradshaw.

Robbins said that ARCO Towers, the Hyatt Regency Hotel, Security Pacific Bank, the Tishman Building, Crocker Bank, the downtown Hilton hotel and others are all centered in the proposed redevelopment zone.

Bradley, meanwhile, told his news conference that his administration has "built a record of solid, honest performance."

He took credit for helping hold down crime in Los Angeles.

Redevelop plan to go to voters?

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A proposal aimed at providing a public vote on Los Angeles' downtown redevelopment plan may be more than a huge issue in the race for mayor of the state's largest city.

A few other large cities might feel an impact from this measure, as well as from another reintroduced measure that would make it easier to vote down redevelopment plans in the state's 10 most populous counties and the four largest cities.

State Sen. Alan Robbins, a Van Nuys Democrat running for mayor of Los Angeles, reintroduced a bill Monday that would give voters the opportunity to hold a referendum on the Los Angeles plan that Robbins opposes and Mayor Tom Bradley supports.

Robbins' bill and another by Assemblyman Joseph Montoya, D-La Puente, would give redevelopment foes more time to circulate petititons for a referendum.

Robbins' measure would be retroactive to cover the Los Angeles downtown plan. Montoya's would cover new plans or major revisions to old ones in cities and counties with 500,000 or more people, providing 90 days, not the current 30 days, to circulate petitions.

The San Fernando Valley senator held a Capitol press conference a few hours after Bradley announced he was running for re-election on the April 5 ballot and accused Robbins of unethical tactics in dealing with redevelopment legislation.

Robbins denied he had been unethical. Then he told reporters that Bradley opposed a public vote on redevelopment and has been "stuffing his pockets" with campaign donations from owners of high rise buildings in the redevelopment zone.

The Los Angeles plan is a subsidy by which $75 million a year in taxes goes to redevelopment instead of schools, and the suburbs have to make up the difference, Robbins said.

Four Chaffey schools bid for state funds

By BOB SWETNAM
PB Staff Writer

Four schools in the Chaffey Joint Union High School District are hoping they will be the recipients of special state education funds the board of trustees authorized them to apply for Monday night.

The schools, Chaffey, Montclair, Mountain and Valley View, will compete with other schools throughout the state for special categorical funds approved under California's Elementary and Secondary Education Act, Title IV-C.

The funds, if awarded to Chaffey schools, must be used for the purpose of developing, adopting or demonstrating innovative or exemplary solutions to educational problems.

The funds will be awarded on a competetive basis to schools that show a need and unique program for applying the funds.

To be eligible for Title IV-C money, a school must provide evidence that more than one-fourth of its students fall below the first-quartile in state reading scores.

Apparently, all four of the Chaffey schools meet that requirement.

Under the Title IV-C program, Montclair and Mountain high schools Will apply for funding under the innovative projects designation, Chaffey high under exemplary-incentive projects, and Chaffey, Montclair and Valley View high schools under the adoption projects guidelines.

The schools are hoping that an award of funds could lead to a successful program in finding solutions to educational problems that face many districts.

In other action, the board happily accepted over $300,000 in federal money it has been anxiously awaiting to reimburse expenditures for its summer work experience program.

Claremont employes present contract items to board

By GEORGE MacLAREN
PB Staff Writer

A 15 per cent salary increase, 15 paid holidays, an increase in vacation time, and a dental health plan are among the items requested by classified employes in their proposed master contract presented at the Claremont school board meeting Monday night.

Julia Applebee, former president of Chapter 200, California School Employes Association, told the board that her group would be ready to sit down and negotiate at the appropriate time.

Under the Rodda Act, the public will be allowed to study the proposed contract until a hearing at the next board meeting Jan. 17 when taxpayers will be given the opportunity to say what they think about the employe requests.

The proposed contract would cover the year from July 1, 1977 to June 30, 1978.

Classified employes are asking for a 15 per cent pay hike which would give the lowest paid employe a monthly rate of $501.

They also are asking for 14 paid holidays besides an additional holiday designated as a "floating holiday" to be selected by the employe.

Paid holidays classified employes want are July 6, Sept. 5 and 9, Nov. 11, 24 and 25, Dec. 23, 26 and 30, 1977; Feb. 13 and 20, March 23 and 24, and May 29, 1978.

Employes are also seeking an increase in vacation time as follows: from the first month through two years, one day of vacation time for each month of service, not to exceed 12 days per fiscal year.

In the third and fourth years of service, an employe would get 1.25 days of vacation for each month, not to exceed 15 days per fiscal year.

The ratio of vacation time would increase through years of service until it reaches 1.75 days for each month.

Beginning with the ninth year, an employe would get 1.75 days for each month, not to exceed 21 days a year, plus three additional days for each additional year of service.

Classified employes want a cost-of-living adjustment made in November, March and July.

Also proposed is that the district fully pay for the following programs for employes and their dependents:

—Medical, hospital and surgical coverage as provided by Blue Cross or Kaiser.

—Dental coverage by California Dental Service.

—Life insurance coverage.

—Workmen's compensation benefits.

Classified employes also are asking for a leave of absence for retraining and study during separate six-month periods after an employe has served three consecutive years preceding the granting of the leave.

Under a schedule adopted by the board Monday night, the board will make its initial proposal to the CSEA at the Feb. 7 board meeting.

The public will have from Feb. 7 to Feb. 22 to review the board's proposal.

Four found safe, but two still missing

FRESNO (AP) — Four Southern Californians stranded in the snowy Sierra Nevada over the New Year's weekend have been found safe, but a search began today for two other missing youths.

Tom McCullough, 19, and his brother Bryan, 17, both of Fresno failed to meet their father Sunday.

Fresno deputies completed a rescue of another party near Shaver Lake on Monday. Scott Grigsby, 13, of Sherman Oaks and Chris Whitnier, 17, of Van Nuys were found safe.

Two companions, Bernie Atterbury, 22, and Mark Russo, 18, both of Sherman Oaks, reached safety on Sunday.

Reaction to Brown school finance, tax relief plans mixed

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A spectacular surge in California's economy may allow Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. to offer school finance reform and property tax relief without raising taxes, an Assembly leader says.

But other lawmakers greeted Brown's promise of school reform, property tax relief and no new taxes with doubts as the California Legislature returned from a holiday recess Monday.

Assembly Speaker Leo McCarthy, D-San Franciso, said even if there is a big surplus, a tax increase may still be needed to provide homeowner and renter tax relief and meet the state Supreme Court's order to equalize education spending by California's 1,100 school districts.

Chairman Daniel Boatwright of the budget-writing Assembly Ways and Means Committee predicted that the $14 billion-plus 1977-78 state budget Brown is expected to submit to the legislature next Monday may contain a surplus of $800 million to $1 billion.

That is double earlier estimates of the potential surplus, and it would greatly increase the Democratic governor's chances of getting through the second half of his four-year term without asking for a statewide tax increase.

Boatwright, D-Concord, said the state's economy is booming, especially retail sales.

"I think we will have a fantastic increase in the economy and the tax money it brings in. I mean an $800 million to $1 billion surplus," Boatwright said.

"If we have a $1 billion surplus, the governor may be right, that we won't need a tax increase," he added.

McCarthy, D-San Francisco, also said the surplus "is going to be good news." But he refused to discuss specific figures.

McCarthy, who said Brown's earlier proposal of $200 million in property tax relief was "inadequate," said huge sums of money are needed to accomplish significant reforms in property tax relief and school finance.

"I am not reluctant to increase taxes," McCarthy said, if that is needed to provide renter and homeowner tax relief and to comply with the court's Serrano decision order to equalize school spending by 1980.

The court said last month that the state school tax system, which is based on local property taxes, is unconstitutional because it results in unequal spending ability between poor and wealth school districts.

Some legislative leaders say it could take a sharp increase in state school spending to meet the decision.

Brown said last week that he has a proposal that will provide both homeowner tax relief and "substantial compliance" with the court school finance order, all without a tax increase.

Judge to allow filming of executions for TV viewing

DALLAS (AP) — Executions at the Texas state prison could be filmed and later televised under terms of an order prepared by a federal judge.

Judge William Taylor said Monday that he expected to sign today an order allowing electronic media as well as print media to record electric chair executions at the prison in Huntsville.

"There could not be any distinction as far as electronic media were concerned," Taylor said. His order would not allow executions to be carried over live television.

On Jan. 14, Mark Milton Moore, 25, convicted of a 1973 murder in Dallas, is scheduled to be executed in the Huntsville electric chair. Appeals have not been exhausted in his case. No executions have been carried out in the United States since 1967.

Taylor's action came as the result of a suit filed by Tony Garrett of Dallas public television station KERA. Garrett, 39, had sought permission to film an execution and interview inmates awaiting capital punishment.

"Very simply, I said the news media are entitled to have representatives there, following a policy that had been followed for a number of years," Taylor said.

"That is that the representatives of The Associated Press and United Press International would serve as pool reporters and also that there could not be any distinction as far as electronic media were concerned. Mr. Garrett would be entitled to be there with his camera on the same basis ... that is, as a pool reporter."

Pool reporters represent the media, sharing news reports and observations with their colleagues.

Garrett said Monday that he expects the Texas Department of Corrections to appeal Taylor's order through the U.S. 5th Circuit Court.

A spokesman said the corrections department would have no comment until Taylor's order has been signed. Department director W.J. Estelle Jr. had testified against Garrett's request.

Marty Haag, news director at Dallas' WFAA-TV, said, "I fear that a circus could be made out if it.

Phone book to list names of wives as well

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Telephone Co. has bowed to liberated wives who want their names listed with their husbands' in the telephone directory. But the firm says it will have to charge 25 cents extra.

The proposal, subject to approval by the state Public Service Commission, followed complaints that listing married couples only by the husband's first name was discriminatory.

The current charge for a separate listing for the wife is now $1. The protesting women said they should get listings on the same line — just like the multiple names of a law firm or brokerage house.

Jury selection in Longet trial resumes

Williams may take stand

ASPEN, Colo. (AP) — With prosecutors saying they might call singer Andy Williams to the stand, six jurors were tentatively seated in the trial of his ex-wife Claudine Longet on charges of killing her lover.

Williams escorted the 35-year-old singer-actress to the Pitkin County Courthouse on Monday in this posh ski resort community where she faces up to 10 years in jail and a $30,000 fine if convicted.

Jury selection was to resume today for the manslaughter trial in the March 21, 1976, shooting of 31-year-old professional skier Vladimir "Spider" Sabich in the $250,000 home he shared with Miss Longet.

During a recess Monday, Williams said he was uncertain why prosecutors subpoenaed him to testify. Dist. Atty. Frank Tucker refused to discuss why Williams was summoned. The singer left for Los Angeles after the noon break, saying he expects to return next week.

Wearing no makeup, Miss Longet sat quietly through about six hours of proceedings. She occasionally brushed back her straight brown hair, held by barrettes, and glanced at the press section, filled with about 30 reporters and artists.

Few residents of this celebrity-filled town showed up in the second-floor courtroom, but dozens lined up in the first-floor lobby to get new auto license plates which became available Monday. Low numbers — a status symbol in Aspen — are given out to first comers.

Tucker, wearing blue jeans and cowboy boots along with a jacket and tie, said the fame of both victim and defendant was making it difficult to find impartial jurors.

Any of the four men and two women tentatively seated Monday may be disqualified later through further challenges from defense or prosecution. Jury selection is expected to take about one week.

One of three prospects dismissed the first day, Aspen Mayor Stacy Standley, admitted, "I felt the defendant was guilty, based on the information I had received" from a police officer.

Sea search on for missing ship

BOSTON (AP) — American and Canadian aircraft and a Coast Guard cutter searched today for a missing Panamanian tanker with 38 persons and 8 million gallons of heavy oil aboard.

The search was expanded after efforts Monday failed to locate the 18,717-ton, 644-foot Grand Zenith or make radio contact with it.

Spokesmen for the Coast Guard, the utility expecting the oil, and the ship's agent said it was not unusual for a tanker to be delayed and temporarily "missing."

"The unusual thing is that it has not been heard from," said Coast Guard Petty Officer William Van Valkenburg. He said it is possible that all of the tanker's radios are not working.

The utility spokesman also expressed concern about the lack of radio contact.

Van Valkenburg said it is possible for such a tanker to sink without losing any of its cargo oil and, therefore, leave no tell-tale oil slick.

He said a tanker probably would lose some of its propulsion oil if it sank, but such oil "may coe up slowly to the surface as a sheen rather than a slick and dissipate."

The Coast Guard said the tanker was last heard from about 60 miles south of Nova Scotia on Thursday.

The vessel left Teesport, England, on Dec. 19. It was headed for the Fall River, Mass., area, the Coast Guard said today.

A spokesman said earlier information indicated the tanker was expected in Providence, R.I., last Sunday, but later reports changed the destination.

The southern section of the search area roughly parallels the rich Georges Bank fishing ground.

Four in home robbed

Four men were bound and robbed in La Verne late Monday night after two couples armed with a sawed-off rifle invaded their residence at 1878 Second St., police said.

The victims were Francisco Lua, 22, Valtazar Mendoza, 19, Arthur Sierra, 43, and Jose Lua, 47.

Police Officer James Strona gave this account:

At 11:30 two young women knocked on the door of the single-story, frame house and awakened Francisco Lua. They asked directions, and Lua offered to escort them to their destination.

He returned to his room to dress and was confronted there by two men who had entered the house behind him. Lua's hands were bound behind him with tape and he was robbed of his wallet. The invaders then went through the house, individually awakening, taping and robbing each of the other victims.

During that time, Lua managed to free himself. He went into the living room and found the women carrying items of stereo equipment to a car parked outside. At that point, the men grabbed Lua and subdued him before leaving him in his room, bound again.

The victims lost about $300 in cash and the stereo equipment to the intruders who fled in a 1964-model Chevrolet. The car was lowered and had mag wheels.

Lua finally managed to free himself a second time and called police. He suffered minor injuries in the scuffle with his captors.

Holdup in parking lot

A Glendora man was robbed of his wallet, two rings and a wristwatch late Monday night on the parking lot of Michael J's Restaurant at 2315 Foothill Blvd. in La Verne.

The victim, James E. Wood, 53, said he was returning to his car when the thief stuck what Wood feared was a pistol in his back and demanded his valuables. He said he surrendered a small amount of cash and jewelry valued at $3,600.

The robber fled to a red car and was driven away.

Upland market robbed

A man armed with a rusty knife robbed the Circle K Market at 111 E. Ninth St., Upland, of an undetermined amount of cash Monday afternoon.

Upland police said the robber, described as a white with a ruddy or scarred complexion, entered the store and pulled the knife on the clerk.

He ordered the clerk to hand over the cash from the register and then fled on foot.

The clerk said the man was wearing a cream colored long-sleeved shirt with orange printing on the back which read "no place like home."

Police believe the robber may have driven off in an older model blue Buick.

It was a bleak holiday season for Ontario family

By JON MORRIS
PB Staff Writer

For Donald Salazar, Christmas was a nightmare of broken dreams and visions of a burned out mobile home.

Salazar and his family were forced to spend the holiday in an Ontario motel with no Christmas tree and few gifts after fire destroyed their trailer home on Dec. 13.

The 47-year-old Salazar also was dismissed from his custodial job at Cal Poly Pomona the same day of the fire.

"It was a bleak Christmas," said Salazar, who with his wife, Dianna, and stepson Ray, 13, have been staying at the Sands Motel in Ontario.

With the loss of the home and job, Mrs. Salazar is not very optimistic. "It looks like a bleak future for us.

"Everything we had obtained in the last five years went down the tubes."

A faulty furnace caused the blaze that roared through the mobile home at Riverside Drive and Vineyard Avenue in Ontario. Mrs. Salazar, fortunately, was outside the home with her son at the time.

But the hard-luck family lost everything except the clothes on their backs and a load of laundry which Don Salazar had taken with him to work that day.

Salazar received word of the fire about the same time he was being told by his supervisor that he would be terminated.

Now the Salazar family may have to declare bankruptcy and go on welfare. They can't afford a new mobile home, and anyway, they have no credit to buy one with.

Also, Mrs. Salazar is unable to work because of recent major surgery on her face.

The family now is left with Mrs. Salazar's biweekly disability checks of $238. The husband recently received a $2,300 retirement check from his previous position with Los Angeles County, but he is using that to pay off a number of debts.

"This brings everything to a screeching halt," said Salazar. "We have to fall back and regroup."

About the only bright spot for the Salazars is the fact no one was hurt in the fire. Mrs. Salazar says if she had not taken her pets to a veterinarian the morning of the fire, she might have been sleeping when the blaze broke out. "I might have died in bed," she said.

Film awards presented

Arroyo, Roosevelt and Washington Elementary schools in Pomona recently received filming awards at a meeting of the National Association for Individually Guided Education in St. Louis, Mo.

The awards were given for outstanding service by the students and staff in the filming of six filmstrips for the leadership series of textbooks and visual aides produced by the Individually Guided Education (IGE) Teacher Education project funded by the Sears-Roebuck Foundation.

Principal George Eubank and teachers Anna Spearman and Mary Ann Kingsbury of Roosevelt School accepted the awards.

PUC to study energy exploration, development

Energy exploration and development programs of California's major gas and electric utilities will be reexamined by the California Public Utilities Commission in a series of public hearings which began in Los Angeles today.

Purpose of the hearings is to determine whether the programs should be "maintained, expanded, reduced, or eliminated." Also to be examined are the financial arrangements involved and how they should affect rates paid by the utilities' customers.

The utilities are Southern California Gas, Southern California Edison, Pacific Gas & Electric, and San Diego Gas & Electric.

Hearings will begin at 10 a.m. each day in Los Angeles today through Thursday.

Los Angeles hearings will be in the commission's courtroom, State Office Building, 107 Broadway. PUC Examiner Charles E. Mattson will preside.

The PUC first addressed itself to gas exploration and development activities (GEDA) in a 1972 decision which granted Southern California Gas Co. a rate increase.

That decision stated in part that with "the critical gas shortage developing in many parts of the United States, the need for special or innovative measures is unmistakable...Conceptually, both SoCal and its customers at this critical time in gas supply procurement should participate equally in the risk and the benefits."

A 1973 decision limited the gas company's customer participation to 10 per cent of the total cost of gas of 0.5 cents per therm, whichever is lower.

PUC staff figures show that through 1975, gas customers have paid about $18.8 million and through 1976 PG & E customers about $6.5 million for gas exploration projects.

Edison customers have paid about $1.4 million for oil, coal, and uranium exploration through June 30.

Currently pending before the PUC are an application from Southern California Gas to submit new or revised projects for an additional three-year period.

These applications will also be considered at the hearings.

Upland council delays action on development

By VONNE ROBERTSON
PB Staff Writer

Upland City Council members want more time to consider the development of three parcels of land south of Foothill Boulevard between Memorial Park and Grove Avenue.

Councilmember Ina Petokas said Monday that the entire area should be developed in a coordinated manner rather than piecemeal.

At the council's Dec. 20 meeting, the members upheld a Planning Commission recommendation that approval of the development of a portion on Grove Avenue for a market be denied.

Members of the audience at the December meeting objected to another market being constructed in Upland. They said the city was saturated with markets, including three now closed.

Council members were more concerned with the overall development of the area, including adjacent land held by another developer.

City Manager Lee Travers asked the council Monday if members wished to ask the Planning Commission to initiate zoning changes at this time.

Councilman Hal Bailin asked that the matter be postponed to allow for a review of the area.

Also delayed at the meeting was the acceptance by the city of the 17th Street Reservoir which has been constructed as part of the city's water system under a bond program passed two years ago.

The reservoir roof has developed cracks and needs to be coated to prevent water from infiltrating the many cracks.

Travers recommended to council members that the reservoir be accepted with the minor discrepancies noted but the council delayed this action.

The delay drew a strong protest from the contractors. J. Putnam Menck and Henck Pro, who said the city was holding up payment of $96,000 to them since the reservoir was completed in June.

Mrs. Petokas said "The reservoir isn't what we expected."

Bailin added "It's not built to specifications."

Representatives of the contractors denied this, but one added "It's not my fault."

A consultant's report on the reservoir is due on Thursday, Travers said.

In other council action, an informal public hearing to discuss proposed improvements to the intersection of Arrow Highway and San Bernardino Road was held over until the state highway engineers can be consulted.

The increase in water rates, which will raise the average homeowner's bill 25 per cent was approved. One man in the audience said he will no longer be able to afford to water the 200-foot parkway in front of his house.

A ordinance prohibiting nude dancing in places other than a theater passed its second reading by a 4-1 vote. Bailin objected to the ordinance.

Marquez-Mosco vows repeated

Miss Mary Ann Mosco of Pomona and George Marquez of Pomona were married in the St. Joseph Catholic Church in Pomona.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Mosco of Pomona and the son of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Marquez were married in a double-ring ceremony by the Rev. Edward Clark.

Honor attendant was Miss Barbara Oikarinen. Bridesmaids were Miss Olivia Marquez, Miss Becca Whitney, and Miss Debbie Ibarra.

Standing as best man was Dan Marquez. Ushers were Frank Marquez, Dennis Escamillo, and Dave Abila. Ring bearer was Damien Marquez of Paso Robles.

Following the rite, a reception was held at Washington Park. When the couple returned from a wedding trip to Las Vegas they established a home in Upland.

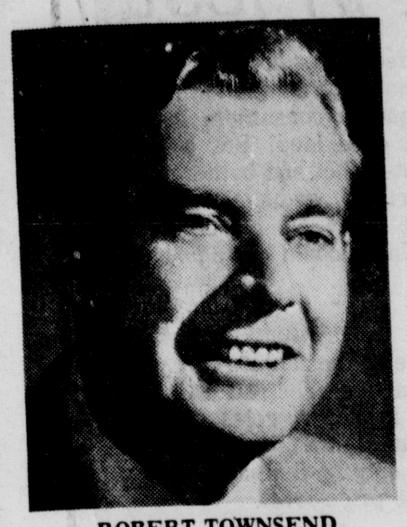
Chino's Townsend to chair S.B. supervisors



ROBERT TOWNSEND

By JON MORRIS
PB Staff Writer

Supervisor Robert Townsend of Chino was chosen as chairman of the San Bernardino County Board of Supervisors Monday in a move that apparently offended Supervisor James Mayfield.

The board normally has rotated the coveted chairmanship every two years to the supervisor with the most seniority. Mayfield of Apple Valley, elected in 1972, has seniority over Townsend who was appointed in January, 1974 and elected to a four-year term later that year.

"I was surprised when I heard Townsend was seeking the post," Mayfield told a reporter after the vote. "We (the board) hadn't talked of the value of continuing the rotation policy.

"My constituents feel the chairman's job has been horse-traded around for political purposes. My district has only had it four times in the last 80 years."

Although Townsend denied it, Mayfield noted the chairmanship will boost Townsend's chances for re-election in 1978.

Townsend admitted he had actively campaigned for the job. When Chairman Dennis Hansberger indicated he would not run for another two-year term, Townsend sought and received his support for the position.

He also obtained support from Supervisor Joseph Kamansky of Upland and Robert Hammock of San Bernardino — giving him enough votes to win the chairmanship.

When the public vote came up Monday, there was little discussion. Hansberger nominated Townsend, Mayfield surprisingly seconded it and the vote was unanimous.

Mayfield had not actively sought the post because, sources said, he thought the rotation policy would still be used.

Hansberger, who was named vice chairman of the board Monday, said he had not sought another term as chairman because he needed more time for his family and constituents.

Townsend thanked the board for showing confidence in him for the position. "It's a job not to be taken lightly."

Board members praised Hansberger for his two years of leadership. He was presented a gavel by Townsend, who said Hansberger "brought a new dimension to county government."

Hammock jokingly said Hansberger has "gray around the temples to give him a look of maturity and hemorrhoids to give him a look of concern."

Townsend later explained that he felt "The time is right (for the chairmanship.) I only expect to pass through this world once, and I want to make any contribution I can. I don't want to miss any opportunity."

He said the position would not necessarily help his chances for re-election in that, "It's a demanding job. It will detract from the time I spend in my district, and time from campaigning."

Townsend's appointment is not the only time supervisors have strayed from the seniority-rotation policy. Ruben Ayala was elected in 1970 to a second two-year term as chairman after two other supervisors, in their first board terms, turned down the job.

Will send resolution to Brown

Pomona council rips DMV policy

By CONRAD CASLER
PB Correspondent

Rape, robbery and harrassment of citizens is being promoted by the state of California via the sale of auto owners names and addresses to anyone who wants them, Pomona City councilmen have charged.

In a stinging resolution passed unanimously at Monday night's council meeting, councilmen authorized City Clerk L.B. Thomas to forward the resolution to Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. and Herman Sillas, director of the Department of Motor Vehicles. Council members also told Thomas to forward copies of the resolution to all city councils in the state urging them to take similar action.

City Manager Jerrold Gonce said the DMV practice of selling names of license plate holders to anyone opens the door to criminals to seek out victims. All that is required is a DMV form to be filled out and a payment of 75 cents per request. The DMV maintains no record of who makes requests.

Gonce described the DMV practice as a "boondoggle."

Such a practice also allows direct mail firms to obtain lists of all auto owners in the state, subjecting them to unwanted junk mail, the resolution charged.

Councilmen concurred that sale of such lists is unethical and a practice not allowed in Pomona which must maintain lists of taxpayers and utility customers.

Anyone planning a rape or harrassing a policeman can merely take his or her license plate number, fill out a request form, pay 75 cents and within five days obtain the name and address, councilmen said.

Gonce said the practice of allowing name and address sales also violates citizens' rights to privacy.

Such sales are authorized under the California Vehicle Code. The resolution asks that the code be amended to prohibit such sales.

In other action, Tom Dolenshek of 1223 N. Karesh St., was surprised when Mayor Ray J. Lepire took him up on his offer to "pay for a policeman out of my own pocket" to get help in settling a traffic problem near his home.

Dolenshek said he has asked for a four-way stop sign at his corner where his car was demolished about Christmas time by a hit-run driver. But he said city bureacrats turned him down, stating the intersection does not need such control.

"We need police out there for a couple of days to slow people down. I'll even pay for a policeman out of my own pocket for a couple of days," he said.

"Okay," Lepire replied. "Come to my office tomorrow and we'll talk about that point."

Councilman Adrian Wright objected to Lepire's statement, stating citizens should not have to pay out of their own pockets for services provided by tax funds.

Councilmen also approved sending city jail prisoners to Dr. Nathan Safian's office for treatment of minor injuries and maladies rather than Pomona Valley Community Hospital during daytime hours to save $28 per visit.

Lepire is an executive of the community hospital which stands to lose some emergency room fees under the new prisoner treatment plan.

Council members delayed closing three alleys east of Hamilton Boulevard south of Ninth Street until all residents of the area reach agreement and deferred action on allowing B & B Ambulance and Paramedic Service limited access to the Pomona service area until two competing firms have been briefed on the move.

Agreements with Sawyer College and the Archdiocese of Los Angeles were passed to train unemployed with federal funds.

Councilmen also approved a proclamation honoring St. Joseph's Catholic Church on its 90th anniversary, then adjourned in memory of eight long time Pomona residents who died recently.

Hearing on L. V. rent control law planned Monday

By BOB NAGEY
PB Staff Writer

A communitywide public hearing has been set for next Monday night in La Verne to determine whether that city needs a rent control law.

La Verne is the first city in California to consider such an ordinance, sought by mobile home owners who claim that mobile home park operators in the city are "gouging" them.

Because of the widespread interest in the proposal, the meeting has been moved from the City Council chambers to the La Verne College Founders Hall Auditorium which seats 400. It starts at 7:30.

Mayor Mike M. Morales said mobile home park operators in the city have been invited to present their side. He said the homeowners already indicated they will turn out in large numbers.

"We are not inviting the operators and park owners to come and defend themselves," the mayor explained. "We are not even sure such an ordinance is necessary. We do want to hear both sides so we can be better informed."

The hearing is a special meeting at which no other business will be conducted.

Some mobile home owners told the council that their rents have gone up nearly 75 per cent in the past 2½ years. Others said their rents have risen more than 50 per cent in the past four years.

They said they have become "captive tenants" who are practically at the mercy of the mobile home park operators.

Morales said the decision of the council will have far reaching implications.

"Suppose we pass a rent control law," he argued Monday night. "Then the apartment people come along and want a similar ordinance. Then all people who rent want similar treatment. Where do we stop?"

La Verne has seven mobile home parks, the largest number in the valley with nearly 1,000 spaces.

Sample ballot statement endorsed

Walnut board takes no stand on transfer

By DAN NIEBRUGGE
PB Staff Writer

The Walnut school board Monday night endorsed a statement for the sample ballot in the March 8 election in which the board takes no stand on the transfer of Diamond Bar from the Pomona school district into the Walnut district.

The board also directed Superintendent of Schools David Brown to attempt to contact the Los Angeles County Registrar of Voters to see if some changes couldn't be made in the board's sample ballot statement for the tax override election to be held concurrently with the transfer election.

The ballot statement on the transfer read, in part, "The individual members of the governing board were not able to agree on any argument against the proposed transfer. Some members believe that there are such arguments. Other members believe that some of the suggested arguments against the transfer are not substantial, or that there are possible solutions to some of the presumed consequences posed in such arguments."

The statement concluded by saying that "If any arguments against the transfer are sufficiently compelling, the strength of those arguments will be reflected in the outcome of the election." The statement endorsed by the board reflected the board's desire that the matter be determined by a vote of the people.

Some trustees objected to the board's statement on the tax override election because it omitted any discussion of the Serrano Supreme Court decision. The Serrano decision declared property tax an illegal funding method for public education.

Trustee Richard Vind said he wished to have the sample ballot statement at least mention the Serrano decision and the time frame surrounding the decision. Vind said he felt many voters might vote against the tax override because they felt the Serrano decision would step in and change the tax structure immediately. Vind said it would be at least one and probably several years before the district realizes any funding changes because of the Serrano decision.

Trustee James Hannan said, "I think the Serrano decision will be discussed a great deal throughout the campaign by both sides." Hannan felt it was not really necessary to rewrite the sample ballot statement.

Trustee Frank Morales said he felt most voters were unaware of the Serrano decision in the first place.

Board President Richard Falloon said he would support a change in the statement if it included a notice that any tax reduction made possible by the Serrano decision would be made by the board.

Brown told the board that the statements had already been submitted to the Registrar-Recorder's office, but that he would try to make the necessary changes.

The ballot statement already submitted argued that inflation and rapid growth are increasing costs in the district at a continuing rate. The statement points out that voters approved two years ago the present $58 per pupil tax override which expires June 30. The new override is a request for a two-year $75 per pupil override, or, in other words, a $17 increase in the present override.

The statement says, "The additional cost, beyond the present tax rate, to the owner of a $60,000 home would be approximately $2 per month."

Psychiatrist sought as employe of TCMHA

Search for a psychiatrist began today to serve patients in Claremont, La Verne and Pomona as a full-time employe of Tri-City Mental Health Authority.

Currently TCMHA employs two doctors part time at an annual cost less than the $38,500 to $45,000 authorized Monday for a full-time position by the TCMHA governing board meeting in Pomona City Council chambers.

Pomona City Manager Jerrold Gonce said search will get under way immediately for the new full-time psychiatrist. Neither of the two part-time psychiatrists currently employed by TCMHA expressed a desire to work full time and take that much time away from their private practices, Gonce said.

In other action, TCMHA governors approved a contract with Family Health Group of Pomona for certain services and deferred action on providing more services for Los Angeles County patients.

Redevelopment plan OK'd by Montclair City Council

By MAE TATE
PB Staff Writer

The Montclair City Council Monday night approved a specific plan of development for eight parcels along Central Avenue.

Three of the parcels will be developed shortly with construction of Der Wienerschnitzel drive-in restaurant.

The parcels are located on the east side of Central Avenue, north of Palo Verde Street, west of the north-south alley and south of the east-west alley near the K-Mart intersection.

There was considerable discussion on whether the remaining five lots should be developed concurrently or if development should be in 3-2 splits.

But council members agreed that single parcels of land wouldn't be developed separately, but they were reluctant to accept the Planning Commission and staff recommendations the remaining parcels be developed at the same time.

Members believed this may possibly hamper future development of the area and be prohibitive to any purchaser of the area lots.

Four plans were submitted but staff and council dealt primarily with the two suggested development plans which called for total development of the five lots at the same time.

The only differences in two precise plans were the traffic flow between the parcels and the setback locations of the proposed buildings.

Fred Alley, planning asssociate who presented the staff and commission recommendations, believed that separate development would further downgrade already deteriorating residential lots.

In the case of concurrent development, Councilman Paul Jones, a Realtor, said that one property owner could hold out and push purchasing price of his parcel up to the developer.

The suggestion to table the matter was withdrawn when Alley reported that no permits could be issued for Der Wienerschnitzel development until the specific plan is approved.

McClure and City Atty. Eugene Demchuk then suggested wording to modify the section of the plan pertaining to the method of development. The new paragraph read that "the development of single parcels of land shall not be permitted. The type of development that shall occur for this area is shown on Exhibit D-1 or D-2, requiring the development of a minimum of three lots concurrently which shall include lots eight or four."

The inclusion of the numbered lots was to avoid splitting the lots in such a way that one is left undeveloped on either end of the five adjacent properties.

Four injured in collision

Four persons were injured late Monday afternoon in the collision of two cars in Pomona.

The accident occurred at Phillips Boulevard and Palomares Street shortly after 5:30 p.m.

Those injured included both drivers, Mabel H. Banks, 61, Pomona, and Charles Demison, 20, Pomona. Also hurt were two persons riding in Demison's car, Felecia Linchon, 15, and Cheryl Brown, 18, both of Pomona. All were treated at Pomona Valley Community Hospital and released.

Police reported that Demison was eastbound in Phillips Boulevard and the other car was southbound in Palomares Street when the collision occurred.

Friends of Ontario Library makes dedication Thursday

The public is invited to the annual meeting of the Friends of the Ontario City Library and dedication of the Simon Klitenic Book and Art Memorial at the Ontario library Thursday.

The friends will hold a 4 p.m. business meeting for the election of board members and officers for 1977. Nominated are Mrs. Jackie Brown, Mrs. Eleanor Carlson, Mrs. Pat Garrett, Paul Gomez, Jim Housel, Mrs. Eva Martin, Dr. Merle Mason, Archie Mitchell, Mrs. Juanita Navarro, Lillian Nesbitt, Mary Parker and Mrs. Janice Shultz.

Redevelopment commissioner seeks Pomona council seat

John Ridley, a former member of the Pomona Redevelopment Commission, has filed candidacy for Pomona City Council in the third district.

Ridley, an engineer who was formerly a professor of engineering at Cal Poly, Pomona, stated, "The credibility of the current City Council and city administration is in serious condition.

"In the last four years we have seen public services such as street repair rapidly deteriorate, business failures which have caused massive unemployment, a soaring crime rate in spite of the fact we have an excellent police force, and hundreds of abandoned homes and vacant business properties. This should indicate to anyone that many residents of Pomona have been forced to leave because of general economic and social conditions.

"We have seen massive early retirement of many seasoned city staff, a new police chief hired and then dismissed before he could get moved, work slowdowns by the city police because of their lack of faith in the city administration during salary negotiations, and cutbacks in the city library services.

"Through it all, we have been told that things are getting better, that Pomona has a new image, that Pomona is being made beautiful, and that the current council and city administration is making progress. Four years ago, I supported the election of this council along with well over half of the voters in the city because they promised change for the better. They have shortchanged the city while promising everything to everyone." he said.

Self-help much in vogue

It's true that in recent years Americans have tended to look more and more to Washington or some other "authority" for the solutions to their social problems.

But it's also true that the old American tradition of mutual self-help is far from vanished from the scene. In fact, the number of groups organized around a particular problem or need has grown enormously in the past couple of decades.

According to one observer of the phenomenon, University of Michigan social work Prof. Thomas J. Powell, Americans have created "a vast, voluntary network of information sharing and mutual aid." He estimates there are hundreds of self-help groups with nationwide affiliation, and perhaps thousands of others that are oriented to local situations.

Granddaddy of them all is Alcoholics Anonymous, founded in 1935, with a current active membership of over 1.1 million.

Either offshoots of AA, or inspired by it, are Synanon and Narcotics Anonymous, aimed at persons coping with drug addiction, and Gamblers Anonymous, for people with a compulsive gambling habit.

Another and more recent "anonymous" is Parents Anonymous, a rapidly growing network of adults who have been guilty of child abuse and who, like alcohol or drug or gambling addicts, have joined together in the realization that they alone are responsible for their problem — and its solution.

In the health area alone there are any number of organizations, ranging from Recovery, Inc., which includes both discharged mental patients and any other persons suffering from emotional problems, to Make Today Count, an organization of cancer victims. There are such specialized groups as Lost Chord Clubs, for people who have had their voice boxes removed by surgery, and Reach for Recovery, for pre- and postoperative patients with breast cancer.

Another category is represented by groups like Parents Without Partners and the Society of Compassionate Friends. Although the latter was organized by parents who have lost children through the Sudden Infant Death syndrome, it welcomes all bereaved individuals.

Still another category includes groups which focus more on public education and advocacy than on actual "help." Examples are various divorce reform groups.

Some groups are intended for short-term membership. Others, like Alcoholics Anonymous, can be lifelong committments. The great value of all of them, besides rescuing people in trouble, is that they offer their "graduates" a way to repay the help and support they received.

As Powell points out, a person who has triumphed over a problem is in the best possible position to help others who are struggling with it.

In his view, the self-help movement is the most positive outcome of the consumer movement. It is people saying: "Other people have shared my misfortune. If they could pull through, I can pull through. I can take responsibility for my life. And I can help someone else with theirs.

Think on these things

Influence is like the fragrance of a flowering tree deep in the woods — we can't see it but we know it is there.

So many things catch us at certain unconscious times and turn us in directions we would never have chosen on our own. We are influenced. Subtle things, scents, sounds, feelings we do not understand draw us along and we go willingly — savoring a new taste, sensing a new experience.

We are often set up like clay pigeons and peppered with thoughts and ideas and suggestions until we forget how to think for ourselves. We are told how we should feel and if we do not we are out of step with the times. Who wants to be out of step? Mainly those who want to know the truth and are willing to examine the influences everywhere present — and make their own choices with the full knowledge of the source.

Just in jest

With today's coffee prices hovering around $2.50 to $3 a pound, it is not surprising that in many cities throughout this country consumers are planning coffee boycotts. A good idea! But why have we taken so long to get all hot and bothered about the price of coffee? Certainly we have had many an opportunity since 1885 to voice our disapproval. That was the year Pomonans could buy 6 pounds of coffee for $1.

• • •

Well, while we are on the subject of skyrocketing prices, I predict that the year 1977 will find more and more couples in Los Angeles County living together without benefit of a marriage license. For many years costing only $2, that document has this year soared to an $8 price level.

• • •

In fact, the only thing that seems to be slowing down in this inflationary spiraling world is the world itself. Scientists recently had to reset their atomic clocks to keep in synchronization with the earth which was spinning one second slower per year in 1976.

Failure was not the system

Dear Editor:

The article of a night or two ago relative to the cheating episode at West Point contained some real food for thought. Do we really believe, as news stories would indicate, that the Honor Code at West Point (and other military schools I presume) is a "failure." Would it not be much closer to the truth to face up to reality and say that it was the students that "failed."

The Honor Code has been there for a long time. It is a well known and understood code which has guided untold numbers of cadets in the past. It was not an impossible code to abide by. It was designed with the noble purpose — that of providing military leaders of character and trustworthiness. Unfortunately, it was a code which by its very make up, was one easily violated. It was not broken by itself but by men — and women — who had sworn to abide by it. It was their honor that was on the line and not the Code's.

That so many were found who were willing to sacrifice their honor and take the easy route was and is a tragedy. Had they been permitted to proceed and take over positions of leadership in our military in the future might well have proven a greater tragedy. Likewise, if we, as citizens permit them to rationalize away their weaknesses and responsibilities and place the blame on the commandant would be a gross injustice filled with many dangers.

Major firms dodge IRS

WASHINGTON — The Internal Revenue Service is secretly investigating 50 of the nation's largest corporations for tax evasion. But many more companies, according to IRS sources, have escaped paying their fair share of taxes.

IRS Commissioner Donald Alexander told us that his agency was looking into serious criminal charges against 50 major corporations. Among them, we have learned, are such giant firms as General Tire and Rubber, Gulf Oil, McDonnell Douglas, Phillips Petroleum, Revlon, Schlitz Brewing and the 3M Company.

Evidence of fraudulent activities by these corporations was uncovered, Alexander said, by his "large case audit program." Under this program, the IRS automatically audits the nation's 1,230 corporations which have assets of more than $250 million each.

Our IRS sources contend, however, that the tax agency should be catching even more corporate tax evaders. One source estimated there could be 200, maybe more, additional corporations filing phony tax returns.

In fact, the IRS auditors may not deserve all the credit for catching the 50 corporations under investigation. In one case involving the Fruehauf Trailer Company, according to Rep. Charles Vanik, D.-Ohio, it wasn't the auditors but a confidential informant who supplied the information leading to the indictment of company officials on tax fraud charges.

Vanik heads the House Ways and Means Oversight Subcommittee, which keeps a sharp eye on the IRS. He fired off a private letter to Alexander, therefore, asking how each case of corporate fraud was uncovered.

The commissioner ignored the letter, which was dated September 21. So on December 13, Vanik followed up with another letter. There still has been no reply. We have learned that the IRS, meanwhile, tried to get a ruling from the Justice Dept., forbidding the release of the information that Vanik requested.

Some of the nation's most prominent and prestigious corporations have resorted to shabby, if ingenious, schemes to evade taxes. Of course, the taxes they escaped paying had to be made up by the honest taxpayers. Here are just a few of the tax evasion schemes, with the names omitted in order not to jeopardize the investigation:

— One large corporation paid $2.5 million to a public relations firm, which was used solely for political lobbying under the direction of corporate officers. The corporation wrote off the money as a bad debt.

— Another big firm bribed state officials and then deducted the bribes as salesmen's expenses.

— A multinational corporation deducted the expenses of a foreign subsidiary from its U.S. tax return, thereby illegally descreasing the amount of taxes it paid.

— Still another corporation used a public relations outfit to distribute political payoffs, which would have been illegal if the firm had made the contributions directly. The company then compounded the offense by deducting the payments as business expenses.

Alexander told us the IRS is cracking down on the big corporations. He has ordered his auditors to ask 11 questions of corporate executives, questions that are calculated to expose bribery, kickbacks and secret foreign bank accounts. If the executives give false answers, they would be subject to criminal prosecution.

Yet the IRS intelligence agents confided to us that the crackdown has been less effective than it should be. They contended that Alexander is relying on auditors who are well intentioned but lack the investigatory skills of the intelligence agents.

Securities and Exchange Commission forms, reporting unusual payments such as bribes and kickbacks, are referred to the auditors. They have the power to inspect corporate books. But the corporations isolate the auditors and prevent them from questioning corporate personnel.

The intelligence agents argued that the corporate books alone seldom reveal the tax evasion. It takes the testimony of witnesses to nail down the fraud, they told us.

FISHY STORY: Thieves have been stealing fish food out of the mouths of the resident fish at the National Aquarium.

The thieves have been discriminating; they have filched only jumbo shrimp and crab meat from the Aquarium freezer. Some $200 worth of these delectables have disappeared during the past eight months.

Untouched, however, were 200 pounds of smelt and 60 pounds of squid, which the gourmet thieves left for the fish.

Officially, this great aquatic mystery remains unsolved. But amateur sleuths became suspicious when they noticed Aquarium personnel at a Christmas party feasting on the same grade shrimp as the heisted jumbos.

The shrimp-eating celebrants insisted that they purchased their jumbos from R.W. Claxton Seafood, Inc. But Claxton's refused to talk about the Aquarium purchases.

"We'll lose business and (the government) will come in to inspect the plant," Richard Claxton explained.

Cities scratch for revenue

By EARL G. WATERS

Stymied by the limitations on property taxes, city governments have been frantically searching for new sources of revenue. If there is anything greedier and more brutal than a flock of hens in a poultry yard, it's city politicians scratching for revenue.

As the New Year dawns their joy is boundless. It appears the door has been opened to untold fortunes for the cities. Yes, Santa Claus, there is a money tree. It is the payroll tax.

This in reality is a tax on the earnings of every worker within a city. It was levied by Oakland but blocked by a Superior Court ruling that income taxes were pre-empted by the federal and state governments and could not be imposed by local government.

But the First District Court of Appeal has reversed that, holding the levy was not an "income tax," despite the fact it takes one per cent of workers' earnings, but rather, "an employee licensing tax" As the Bard of Stratford on the Avon said, "A rose by any other name . . ."

However, unless the Supreme Court overrules the decision or the Legislature straightens out the tax muddle, city officials throughout the state are ecstatic at the thought of the unlimited new source of spending money. For, if they can impose one per cent, nothing bars increases and local government never has endorsed Gov. Jerry Brown's "era of limits" philosophy.

Perhaps, for those communities such as Petaluma which are dead serious about limiting growth, such a tax would serve them well. For there is surely no better way to discourage the establishment of new businesses. In fact it is a great way to encourage industry to relocate. For, given an option, potential employes, already contributing substantial portions of their gross pay for federal and state income taxes, social security and disability insurance, retirement, health insurance and other fringe benefits, will certainly seek work where they can avoid yet another bite into their take home pay.

But those cities, burdened with huge employment which is the case of most, large and small, had better do some fast rethinking. If they want to hang on to the payrolls within their boundaries and attract new industries, forget the payroll tax.

Among these jumping up and down with joy is the state's capital city. One councilman waxed so enthusiastic he allowed as to how such a tax could eliminate the property tax. Horsefeathers! Balderdash and tommyrot! Name one city, county or special district that has even reduced property taxes in the past half century, let alone eliminated them.

This despite the fact that local governments in the past 30 years have been receiving endlessly bigger and bigger federal and state grants in a multitude of forms, including some specifically designed to reduce property taxes. Each new allocation only inspires new spending. Local officials dearly love to brag about not increasing tax rates never telling the public that new construction and inflated values have provided substantial property tax increases sufficient to operate even without the federal and state grants.

Sacramento, which so urgently desires that all state agencies headquarter there as the law requires, is the last city to be thinking of payroll taxes. The advocates contend that many non-residents receive city services for free by reason of being employed here.

What they are forgetting is that those workers, even though they reside elsewhere, contribute both to the economy and the revenues of the city. For they do purchase meals as well as more tangent commodities in the city. Not only does the city benefit from the sales tax but from the general boost to the economy generated by the non-resident spending. If this is not true, why the constant efforts to attract tourists?

Chicago curbs vandalism

Vandalism in Chicagoland raged like wildfire across schools, parks and parked cars. In one year 89,517 broken schoolhouse windows.

It cost area taxpayers $3.5 million to replace the windows plus another $3.5 million for new school security programs plus another $3 million for additional watchmen.

Vandals were costing taxpayers $10 million each school year. This does not include the thousands of hours of education lost because of true and false fire alarms and true and false bomb threats and such.

A Senate juvenile delinquency subcommittee was proclaiming "school crime at a crisis stage" and Chicago schools were among the worst: Brutal classroom assaults and rapes of teachers and students, extortions, burglaries, thefts — and this unprecedented wave of wanton destruction — vandalism.

Suddenly there is less.

Vandalism in suburban Chicago has been reduced 35 percent in one year. And what Chicagoans did to put a stop to it anybody can do.

It was not just the school buildings in Chicago which suffered from the epidemic of vandalism. Fifty thousand dollars' worth of park picnic tables were destroyed each year.

Private homes suffered damages totaling $3 million in one year; public buildings were defaced and/or damaged.

The first suburb to fight back was the community of Deerfield. And what Deerfield did reduced vandalism by 35 percent the first year.

Promptly other suburbs took similar measures with similar results.

What these suburbs have adopted is an antivandal ordinance which says that parents are responsible for the vandalism of their children.

Prosecution is transferred in most cases from juvenile court — where convictions are rare — to local courts where convictions are probable.

If the children cannot reimburse the victims of their vandalism the parents must pay fines of up to $500.

The constitutionality of these ordinances is yet to be court tested. It will be argued by some that one person cannot be made responsible for the crimes of another.

It will be interesting to see what the Supreme Court decides when these ordinances are challenged.

But meanwhile they are saving taxpayers a lot of money and reinforcing the frequently neglected parent-child relationship.

Much youth crime relates to a demand for recognition.

In the sardine society of a megalopolis we all tend to lose our individual significance.

The young person stealing a hubcap, looking both ways while he does, is pleading with his heart: "Please somebody notice me!" And if ignored and unpunished he probably will go on to larger crimes in his quest for attention.

Now Chicago area youngsters are getting increased attention where it means most — at home!

The perfect Christmas letter

Dear Readers: Remember the brutal assaults on mimeographed Christmas letters in my column a few years back? I said I didn't care for them, and 80 per cent of my readers agreed. The 20 per cent who disagreed bombarded me with obscenities.

Last year, a friend from Reno wrote, "Since you and Herb Caen of the San Francisco Cronicle are opposed to mimeographed Christmas letters, I thought you might consider quoting something from Herb's column. Here it is:

" ' 'I don't care for Christmas letters, but Bruce Bliven's are different. Now 86, the onetime editor of The New Republic (for 30 years) lives with his wife at Kingscote Gardens, Stanford. He wrote:

" ' ''At 86 Rosie and I live by the rules of the elderly. If the toothbrush is wet you have brushed your teeth. If the bedside radio is warm in the morning you left it on all night. If you are wearing one brown shoe and one black shoe, you have a pair like it somewhere in the closet. Try not to mind when a friend tells you on your birthday that a case of prune juice has been donated in your name to a retirement home.

" ' ''I stagger when I walk and small boys follow me, making bets on which way I'll go next. This upsets me. Children shouldn't gamble. Like most elderly people, we spend many happy hours in front of the TV set. We rarely turn it on.' ''

"Sweet, isn't it? — Your Friend Blondie In Reno"

I responded: "Dear Blondie: Right you are! There's a Christmas letter that warms my heart. Not a single word about Jim's promotion, the children's stellar achievements, the dog's litter of puppies, mother's arthritis, or the new Rolls Royce. I hope Bruce and Rose see this and put me on their list for next year."

Well folks, — I'm happy to report that Bruce and Rose DID put me on their list and here's a condensed version of their 1976 Christmas letter:

"Dear Friends: Rosie and I are now 87. Would we care to try for 174? The answer is NO. I'm 46 per cent as old as the United States, and still can't spell 'seize.'

"Rosie has aged some in the past year, and now seems like a woman entering her 40s. She chides me about the little elf who regularly enters our house in the middle of the night, squeezes the toothpaste tube in the middle, and departs. Last May we celebrated our 63rd wedding anniversary.

"As for me, I am as bright as can be expected. I remember well the friend who told me years ago, 'If your I.Q. ever breaks 100 — sell!'

"I walk with a slight straddle, hoping people will think I just got off a horse. On my daily excursions I greet everyone punctiliously, including the headrests in parked, empty cars. Dignified friends seem surprised when I salute them with a breezy 'Hi!' They don't realize I haven't enough breath for a two-syllable greeting.

"When we are old, the young are kinder to us and we are kinder to each other. There is a sunset glow that radiates our faces and is reflected on the faces of those about us. But still it is sunset — Rose and Bruce Bliven."

Dear Rose and Bruce: Bless you dear people. Please write again next year!

Dr. Miller

Cat's beauty in eye of beholder

DEAR DR. MILLER: If my snake, Slide, had mouth rot, he'd stop eating, wouldn't he? — P.N.

DEAR P.N.: If it were left untreated, he certainly would, though just when would be variable. Many snakes would stop eating as soon as the mouth became slightly sensitive. A few toughies would try to keep eating even though severe ulceration and other damage were present in the mouth. It's one of many conditions where early treatment can not only save money, it could save Slide as well.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Since Ralph was a puppy, he has been a little shy and nervous, but always friendly. He's a Bernese mountain dog. Twice in the last month, right in the house, he's turned on my husband and bitten him. I saw the last attack and he seemed to be actually out of his head for a moment. Afterward, he seemed confused and apologetic and has been his usual friendly self. There was no rhyme or reason to what happened either time, and we're terribly worried it could happen again. We've reluctantly decided to put him to sleep if it does. Our veterinarian hasn't been able to find any physical cause for it, but said he couldn't rule out a brain tumor or some such thing. The only other person I knew with this breed of dog, the Bernese, had to put his dog to sleep because it turned on him. It couldn't be a weakness within the breed, could it? — A.K.

DEAR A.K.: Abnormal behavior traits can be carried along through generations. These unpredictable aggressive attacks on family members are, unfortunately, a not-uncommon occurrence in this breed, and hereditary factors seem to be involved. While there are many causes for aggressive behavior in dogs which are not genetically related, this particular problem in Bernese is. (Other undesirable behavior is found in other dog breeds or strains.)

DEAR DR. MILLER: Killy, my young cat, is really very beautiful except that her face isn't quite even. It's her jaw which is a little crooked. Our veterinarian says she was born this way and there's nothing practical to do about it, and that it's not bothering her. Even if other people don't think so, am I terribly prejudiced to think she's beautiful anyway? — I.H.

DEAR I.H.: Prejudiced, perhaps, but why not? Actually, Killy's countenance may be pleasing to a lot more people than you think. After all, the Mona Lisa has a lopsided smile . . .

She's no Barbara Walters

Barbara Walters once related how she was invited to a state dinner in the Philippines. The dinner was to begin in ten minutes and Barbara had not brought along a long dress. She was about to decline the invitation when she had a flash. She would wear her red bathrobe, thus saving the day.

I have two acquaintances who have worn nightgowns to dinner parties. One was on the campaign trail and also didn't have a long dress and the other just thought her nightgown too pretty to waste in bed.

Don't those stories just turn your stomach?

I don't have a nightgown in my drawer that would get me through an eighth grade prom — or a house call from my doctor, for that matter. Somehow, I cannot imagine myself showing up for a state dinner in the Philippines in a pair of blue scuffies, a flannel robe with a stomach button missing, spit-up on the shoulder (the baby is 18 years old) and pockets bulging from nose tissue that smells like vapor-rub.

I took a turn the other day through the lingerie department and frankly, I can see how they got away with it. I've never seen so many beautiful gowns and robes in my entire life.

"Here's one that's a luv," said the salesperson.

She held up a satin gown. (The last time I saw anything that narrow, there was toothpaste in it.)

"I'm afraid not. I have made it a rule of thumb that I do not wear anything to bed I have to wear a girdle under."

"What about this one?" she asked, holding up a transparent bit of nylon.

"I have also promised myself that I would never wear anything in bed that you had to wear a coat over."

"What did you have in mind?" she asked.

"Something with sleeves, a turtleneck . . . and a zip-in floor."

Then she held up a robe that was a knockout. Let me put it another way. If I had worn it to the ball when my husband was elected Governor, it's something I'd wear again to his inauguration as President.

"I'll take it," I said impishly.

Last weekend, I took the plunge and decided to wear it as an evening dress. As I entered the room . . . all eyes were upon me when my husband looked up and said, "Hurry up and get dressed. We're leaving in ten minutes."

Whatya wanta bet? Barbara Walters could have worn the same thing and looked like a million dollars.

She loved deep voices

Never can tell just what it is about a girl that will fascinate a fellow. And vice versa. That renowned philosopher Descartes, for instance, was particularly intrigued by any women with crossed eyes. Also, numerous ladies long have known that some men find irresistible that mole on the cheek known otherwise as a beauty mark. The dimple or cleft always gets appropriate credit in this vein, too. But the most unusual item in our Love and War man's file on these matters is the case of the female telephone operator who compulsively flirted with just about every man she talked to whose voice descended into the lower registers, and as it happened, her behavior did not change, even after she married a base singer who specialized in a rendition of "Deep River."

IRREGARDLESS

Q. "Why do people say "irregardless" when there's no such word?"

A. There's such a word, all right. But it's what the dictionary people call "nonstandard." And it most probably began as a cross between "irrespective" and "regardless."

One out of every 10 supermarket shoppers discovers at the checkout counter that there's not enough money in the purse to cover the bill, so puts a few items in the "take back" cart. Researchers who found this out say these items frequently include candy, books and air fresheners. But six-packs of beer are almost never among the "take back" merchandise.

If you lie down to rest about four hours after a meal, the heat given off by your body then is equal to that of a 60-watt lightbulb.

It's illegal in Toledo, Ohio, to throw a snake at somebody.

IQ TESTS FOR DOGS

A canine psychologist devised a series of IQ tests for dogs. Steak bones were wrapped in towels, put under shoe boxes, skewered on head-high limbs, so on, and the dogs were rated on a scale of 0 to 10 as to their savvy in getting to the steak bones as quickly as possible. Bloodhounds came out on top, poodles at the bottom. Males proved to be smarter than females. And no difference showed up in this particular test between purebreds and mongrels.

Dr. Lamb

Skin condition is chronic

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have seborrheic dermatitis. All of a sudden, four years ago, my face broke out in a rash. It's between my eyebrows, but mostly on both sides of my nose.

At that time it only broke out occasionally. Lately it bothers me a lot. I can tell before it starts to break out. My face itches, and the next thing it gets red with oily scaly patches. My family doctor said it was hereditary and gave me some cream for it. The cream doesn't seem to help much now. Please tell me what can be done about this. At times I hate to even go out because of my red face. I wash my scalp regularly with Selsun.

DEAR READER — This is a chronic condition, and your treatment will have to be directed toward controlling the problem rather than curing it permanently.

It is caused by overactivity of the sebaceous glands, with an excess production of sebum. The term seborrheic means this, and dermititis merely means inflammation of the skin.

The lesions are as you describe them with red or scaley spots in the areas involved. These spots can be quite troublesome. They may extend to the eyebrows, the sides of the nose, over the ears, behind the ears and may involve the scalp. Actually, dandruff is one type of the disorder. The reddened spots of inflammation may be over the center of the breast bone (sternum), under the arms, between the shoulder blades or in the groin area. The spots may be covered with yellowish, greasy scales. And they do itch.

The disorder may be associated with acne, but it is different in that it is more chronic in some instances. The greasy scaly lesions are distinct as opposed to blackheads, whiteheads and pustules. To give you a better idea about how sebaceous glands work, I am sending you The Health Letter number 8-2, Acne Can Be Treated. It deals with the rest of the problems not covered here — the common acne without the dermatitis. Others who want this information can send 50 cents with a long, stamped self-addressed envelope for it. Just send your letter to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551. Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

The treatment must be directed toward the areas of involvement. Try to prevent oily hair by frequent shampoos. Selsun is used for this purpose if there is any evidence of dandruff. If it doesn't do the job you can use a tar shampoo such as Sebutone, Polyear Iocon. If the scalp itches, you can use a hydrocortisone in a liquid base such as Barbseb or Texacort Scalp Lotion. Do not use any greasy substances on your hair.

You should definitely NOT use any greasy products on your face. Your problem is too much grease in the form of sebum. That salve your doctor is giving you must be in a water base or it will not help.

Do not use any greasy or oily make-up preparation whatsoever. Keep your face clean with frequent washing and try to keep it dry and free of grease or skin oils. In fact you will be better off to not use anything on your face but mild soap and water — two or three times a day and a water based salve that your doctor may prescribe for you. That may be what he is giving you. The areas of involvement may be treated with Hydrocortisone salve, but a fluorinated one should not be used on the face.

South analyzes West's lead as fourth best of his suit. With two lower hearts missing there is a good chance that it was fourth best of five or even six. All this doesn't affect South's first play. He puts up dummy's queen and is delighted when it holds.

The carefree rubber bridge declarer goes right after diamonds. Should the suit break 3-3 or the jack drop he will have a lot of diamond tricks. But West shows out on the third diamond lead so South goes after the spades. Again West shows out and all of a sudden our carefree declarer can only score eight tricks which isn't quite enough for his contract.

A careful declarer might well give the hand a safer play. He leads a diamond at trick two, but plays his eight when East follows low. West takes his nine, but can't lead anything to hurt South, who will now collect four diamonds, three spades, a heart and a club and a nice rubber bonus.

How should a match point declarer play this dummy?

Probably he should not try the safety play on the theory that he needed overtricks, but the rubber bridge player needs to win the rubber, not overtricks.

The answer is yes. They counted 50 points from 1925 to 1930 when they were reduced to count 20 for minor suit and 30 for majors and notrump.

If you have ever been where horses and cattle are raised, you may know what a horsefly is.

It is a kind of fly that "bites" horses and other warm blooded animals, and sucks their blood. The bite is sharp and painful.

This big fly is distinguished by a large head which looks to be "all eyes," and a compact body built for fast flight.

Flies do not really bite or chew because they cannot open their jaws. Reaching down from the front of the horsefly's head is a tubelike mouth called a proboscis, that has sharp, bladelike parts.

When the fly is "biting," it is actually rubbing its sharp proboscis across the skin of its victim, cutting down to one of the small blood vessels. It then uses its hollow proboscis as a straw to suck up the blood.

Only the female "bites." She can't produce eggs unless she has had a meal of blood. Male horseflies feed only on plant juices.

Ganesha, Ontario to top SAL, HL

Despite a less-than satisfactory, round of prep grid predictions in this column last fall, it is time once again to pull out the crystal ball and pick the winners in the local basketball leagues.

At least the San Antonio League is usually a little easier to fathom during basketball season than it is at gridiron time.

In fact, Garey has won four of the last five SAL titles under coach Mike Wells, making prediction a relatively easy feat in that basketball loop.

This year, however, the Vikings will be unseated by the same team that interrupted their five-year string of good fortune in 1974.

That at least is how I see it. So here goes with the SAL, Hacienda League and other local teams:

SAN ANTONIO LEAGUE — Ganesha looks nearly unstoppable in its bid to win its first title since 1974, when Cleve Porter and Broderick Hunter played for the Giants.

Senior Steve Polee and juniors James Verdon and George Hawthorne should be enough to carry Ganesha to the title, and the Giants have a good group of supporting players on the bench.

Ganesha doesn't have a top-notch shooting percentage in every game, but the Giants' rebounding talent is such that they don't need it. Hawthorne, a 6-foot-10 center, and Verdon, a 6-4 forward, are both excellent boardmen, and 6-5 forward Les Harris can be when he isn't in foul trouble.

Perhaps the most interesting part of the SAL season this year will be the battle between Garey and Claremont for second place. Claremont, led by Derek Britton and Ray Kwiatek, showed its mettle last week with a convincing win over a good Upland team despite the early loss of forward Kelly Gordien.

With that win, the Wolfpack earned an ever-so-slight edge over Garey for my second-place nod. The Vikings, however, with the services of James Lofton and Herbi Banks, should not be counted out by any means.

Upland will finish fourth, just ahead of Damien, which won't be a title contender despite the presence of Bill Duffy, one of the best prep cagers in Southern California. Upland has a fine record but, with so many juniors in the lineup, is still a year away.

Chino and Montclair should be very close for for sixth place and Pomona will finish last.

HACIENDA LEAGUE — This loop is tougher to figure than the SAL this year. Alta Loma and Ontario are definitely the class of the league but which one is better is not yet clear.

I'll take Ontario, however, on the premise that the Jaguars' speed should undermine the bigger but slower Braves. Much will depend on the recuperation of Alta Loma's Jeff Anderson, whose ankle cast (ligament injury, not a fracture) should come off in a couple of weeks.

Both teams are well balanced, with Otis Manning, Mickey and John Donaldson and Leo Olivas sharing Ontario's scoring duties and Rich Davis, Kevin Comstock and John Conger leading Alta Loma. No matter which team wins the HL title, both should do well in the 2A playoffs.

Walnut, led by returning starters Jeff Anderson and Doug Vind, should take the third place, but the rest of the teams in the league are pretty even.

Royal Oak, which has beaten Edgewood, the consolation title winner in the Chino Tournament, should finish fourth, followed by San Dimas, Bonita, Sierra Vista and Gladstone.

Here then are my picks for the SAL and HL in capsule form, with non-league records in parentheses:

SAL — 1. Ganesha (9-4); 2. Claremont (9-3); 3. Garey (6-4); 4. Upland (9-4); 5. Damien (3-6); 6. Montclair (5-6); 7. Chino (4-7); 8. Pomona (1-7).

HL — 1. Ontario (10-2); 2. Alta Loma (10-3); 3. Walnut (5-6); 4. Royal Oak (4-6); 5. San Dimas (2-7, not counting Monday's game); 6. Bonita (1-8); 7. Sierra Vista (3-5); 8. Gladstone (0-8).

Ontario Christian should fare the best of the remaining valley teams. The Knights (7-3) will finish second in the Olympic League behind L.A. Lutheran.

Chaffey (2-7) will wind up fourth in the Citrus Belt League while La Verne Lutheran (5-4) and Webb (0-6) will finish sixth and ninth, respectively, in the Arrowhead League race.

NATIONAL CHAMPIONS

Pittsburgh coach Johnny Majors gets a boost from his team after beating Georgia, 27-3, in the Sugar Bowl Saturday. Pitt was named national champion today in AP ratings.

USC finishes second

Pitt takes AP poll

By The Associated Press

The Steelers failed to bring a football title to Pittsburgh this season but the Pitt Panthers did.

Barely one week after the defending pro champion Steelers were eliminated from the National Football League playoffs, the unbeaten and untied University of Pittsburgh Panthers were named today as winners of college football's national championship.

Pitt, which wrapped up its first all-winning season in 58 years Saturday by routing Georgia 27-3 in the Sugar Bowl for a 12-0 record, was an overwhelming and near-perfect winner in The Associated Press' national championship poll.

The Panthers received 59 of 62 first-place votes and 1,234 of a possible 1,240 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters. It was their first national championship in 39 years and second since The AP poll originated in 1936.

Pitt, ninth in the preseason poll, moved up to third place by winning its opener handily against Notre Dame on the road 31-10. The Panthers then climbed into second place behind Michigan on the third weekend of the season and took over the top spot when the Wolverines were upset by Purdue 16-14 on Nov. 6.

Southern California, which won 11 games in a row, including a 14-6 triumph over Michigan in the Rose Bowl, after dropping its opener to Missouri 46-25, finished second in the final rankings. The Trojans received the other three first-place votes and 1,118 points in moving up from third in the final regular-season poll.

Michigan, which was No. 1 for the first eight weeks of the campaign, slipped from second to third with 847 points. Houston's Cinderella Cougars, unranked before the season, jumped from sixth to fourth with 804 points by upending previously unbeaten Maryland 30-21 in the Cotton Bowl.

Then came defending champion Oklahoma, up from eighth place to fifth with 638 points following a 41-7 Fiesta Bowl rout of Wyoming. The two-time champion Sooners, who got as high as third place early in the season, fell short in their bid for an unprecedented third consecutive national title.

Rounding out the Top Ten were Ohio State, 11th in the previous poll but a 27-10 winner over Colorado in the Orange Bowl; Texas A&M, up from 10th to seventh by walloping Florida 37-14 in the Sun Bowl; Maryland, down from fourth to eighth; Nebraska, the preseason leader, which jumped from 13th to ninth by downing Texas Tech 27-24 in the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl; and Georgia, which was fifth in the previous ratings and had an outside shot at the national championship until losing to Pitt.

"That's great, great news," Pitt Coach Johnny Majors said in Honolulu when he was informed that the Panthers officially had been declared national champions. "I hope I get another one in the next 25 years."

Majors, who is leaving Pitt to become head coach at the University of Tennessee, pointed out that Tennessee has not won a national championship in 25 years.

"The bowl game made it overwhelming," Majors added. "I felt if we beat Georgia by a point we could have won it, but after we beat them by so much I felt very comfortable about our chances."

The AP's Second Ten consisted of Alabama, Notre Dame, Texas Tech, Oklahoma State, UCLA, Colorado, Rutgers, Kentucky, Iowa State and Mississippi State.

Super Bowl foes arrive

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Leave it to Al Davis to leave nothing to chance.

The mysterious, sometimes sinister, and always secretive head man of the Oakland Raiders Monday sent his advance troops to the battleground of Super Bowl XI a day before the team's arrival to scout the training facilities.

The troops: Head coach John Madden and all his assistants. Their mission: Checking all the nooks and crannies of the University of California at Irvine.

That might not seem like such a big deal—but Minnesota Coach Bud Grant can surely understand the Raiders' apprehension and thoroughness.

Remember Super Bowl VIII in Houston? Grant does. His Vikings were totally unprepared for what they found when they arrived, namely a high school field assigned to them for practice. And it took a 20-minute bus ride every day to get the Vikings there from their hotel while the Miami Dolphins could simply stroll across the street to their facilities, the Houston Oilers' practice field.

"Sparrows in the showers," Grant muttered after getting his first look at the Vikings' workout scene. It became a cause celebre—and Grant became $1,500 poorer when National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle fined him for his editorial comments.

No one knows whether the Raiders are pleased with their UC-Irvine training camp or their Newport Beach hotel a 10-minute bus ride away—and if Madden is any sort of diplomat, we'll never know.

It's already known, though, that Grant doesn't like the idea of the Vikings being quartered in Costa Mesa, 10 minutes from their training camp, the Los Angeles Rams' in-season training site at Blair Field in Long Beach.

The problem, Grant points out, is that it's perhaps a two-hour bus ride north from Costa Mesa (and from Newport Beach, for that matter) to Pasadena and the Rose Bowl, the scene of Sunday's game. So Grant and the Vikes will be pulling up stakes in Costa Mesa on Friday and sequestering themselves in Pasadena for the final 48 hours or so.

And the Raiders also may be less than thrilled with their location. It is understood that Madden and his players will check into a motel near Pasadena a day or two before Sunday's game.

So much for logistics.

One of the most meaningful statistics of this game is that one of the teams has to come out of it a winner, a major change for both of them.

The Raiders, perhaps more than any other team in the league, have been symbolic of life's losers. In nine of the last 10 years they have won division titles. In only one of those previous eight have they managed to make it through the playoffs and into the Super Bowl. And in that one, they were throttled 33-14 by the Green Bay Packers in Super Bowl II.

The Vikings, too, have made failure a habit of sorts. They've won division titles eight of the last nine seasons. In the previous seven, they managed three trips to the Super Bowl. And in all three they came out on the short end, losing 16-6 to Pittsburgh two years ago, 24-7 to Miami three years ago and 23-7 to Kansas City seven years ago.

Ted Turner will meet with Kuhn

ATLANTA (AP) — Ted Turner, the Atlanta Braves owner suspended by Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn for one year, will find out the terms of his suspension Jan. 18 when he meets with the baseball czar.

"I talked to Kuhn this morning," Turner said Monday during a news conference to announce his purchase of a majority share of the National Basketball Association Atlanta Hawks.

"He was very friendly to me on the telephone, but he gave me no encouragement that the penalty will be lightened."

The 38-year-old Turner, a world-class yachtsman and owner of two television stations, was suspended Sunday for his handling of the Braves acquisition of free-agent outfielder Gary Matthews.

Matthews was signed to a five-year, $1.875 million contract last Nov. 18. The contract was approved Monday by National League President Chub Feeney.

The Braves earlier had been fined $10,000 for tampering with Matthews during the season before he became a free agent.

Turner indicated he may take legal action against Kuhn in an effort to have the suspension lifted or made lighter.

Bartow will start veteran guards

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Coach Gene Bartow of the UCLA basketball Bruins is preparing for the upcoming Pac-8 conference campaign by inserting veteran guards into the lineup to replace sophomores.

"I was very set in my idea in regard to sophomore guards in late November," Bartow said Monday at a news conference. "But on the basis of our last four games, it is obvious that Raymond Townsend and Jim Spillane have been playing awfully well."

He'll start Townsend, a junior, and Spillane, a senior, at the guard positions against Oregon Friday night. Sophomores Roy Hamilton and Brad Holland manned the starting positions at the season's start.

But Bartow told newsmen he believes the Townsend-Spillane combination "has been moving the ball with more confidence and authority."

Defending Pac-8 champion UCLA goes into conference play with a 10—1 mark in its nonconference games, exactly where they were a year ago.

Bartow, however, says this team needs more polish.

"On the basis of our December play (a loss to Notre Dame and seven victories) we are not where we were a year ago.

"When you think of losing Richard Washington, Andre McCarter, Ralph Drollinger and Gavin Smith, it would be difficult to be where we were a year ago.

"I think our league will be very well balanced and I'm sure any of us who have 12 wins will feel we'll be conference champions," Bartow added. "There will be that much balance with each playing 14 conference games. Even the teams that have the toughest time are going to get four or five wins."

Bartow rates his club among the best in the Pac—8 and believes Washington State and Washington may provide the toughest competition.

"I'm worried about Oregon, and also Oregon State, this weekend," Bartow said. Oregon beat the Bruins 65—45 in the final game of last season at Pauley Pavilion.

Oregon arrives this year with a 9—2 record and Bartow says, "They've only lost two tough games to Nevada-Las Vegas and North Carolina. They have to be rated very high with Greg Ballard. He and our Marques Johnson might be the two feature players in the league."

Hacienda chase opens

By MIKE BROSSART
PB Staff Writer

Alta Loma High will begin defense of its Hacienda League basketball title at home against Royal Oak Wednesday, but the most important HL contest of the day will take place at Walnut.

That game will pit the Mustangs against Ontario, the team that figures to be the top challenger for the Braves' title.

But to retain that status the Jaguars will have to win Wednesday against Walnut, a team which — like Ontario — has a lot of experience in its lineup.

Wednesday's other HL openers will find Bonita hosting Gladstone and San Dimas entertaining Sierra Vista. All four varsity games are scheduled for 4:45 p.m, with the junior varsity contests set for 3:15 p.m.

Ontario has two tournament championships and a consolation title to go with its impressive 10-2 record, the best in the valley. The Jags beat Ganesha and Upland, two strong San Antonio League teams, to win the Upland-Montclair Tournament.

Their only losses were to Montclair in a non-tournament game and to Bishop Diego in the opener of the Fillmore Tournament.

Ontario's leading scorer is guard Otis Manning, but the Jags actually have a four-pronged scoring attack. Manning has scored 15.9 points per game but brothers Mickey Donaldson (11.3 points per game) and John Donaldson (10.3) as well as Leo Olivas (9.3) always figure greatly in Ontario's wins.

Each of those players, with the exception of John Donaldson, started for the Jags last year as well.

Walnut has struggled to a 5-6 pre-league record but has a lot of firepower in the form of Jeff Davis, the league's leading scorer with 20.5 points per game, and Doug Vind (16.8), both starters on last year's squad, as was Andre Edwards.

Ontario and Walnut have had one common foe: The Jaguars beat Wilson of Hacienda Heights, 56-50, in the Upland-Montclair tourney and Walnut lost to the same team, 76-68, in the Nogales tourney last week.

Alta Loma has compiled a 10-3 record despite the loss of Jeff Anderson, one of the league's top forwards. Anderson, who injured his ankle in the Upland-Montclair Tournament and has missed eight games since, averaged 14.8 points in his five games, highest on the squad.

The Braves boast a very balanced scoring attack: Kevin Comstock has averaged 14.0 points, Rich Davis 13.5 and John Conger 10.0.

Crucial to the Braves' title chances will be whether Anderson returns in time to play in first meeting with Ontario on Jan. 26.

Alta Loma won the Cabrillo Classic, in which Comstock was selected the tournament's outstanding player.

Royal Oak (4-6) is led by senior Bill Cavanaugh, who is averaging 17.7 points per outing.

Bonita (1-8) and San Dimas (2-7 going into Monday's game against Mountain View) have not met with much success so far, but both have good shots at opening league play with a win.

The Bearcats will host a Gladstone team that has not won in eight tries while San Dimas tangles with a Sierra Vista team that is 3-5.

Keith Brandt and Keith Knight have led the Bearcats in scoring so far, each with 12.1 points per game.

Junior Mark Klein is far and away the Saints' leading scorer with a 16.8 average.

Sierra Vista has one fine player in guard Albert Solis, who is averaging about 20 points per game.

San Dimas' record dropped to 2-8 Monday night in a 55-51 loss to Mountain View as the Saints couldn't make their crucial free throws in the fourth quarter.

The Saints made only five of 12 free throws in the game and missed all five chances in the final two minutes when they blew a six-point lead.

Mike McDonald led San Dimas with 18 points followed by Mark Klein with 15.

Azusa upsets Cal Poly again

By BILL LANGLEY
PB Sports Editor

Cliff Hamlow, Azusa Pacific College's veteran basketball coach, might consider using Cal Poly's Kellogg Gym as his court from now on.

For the second straight year, Hamlow guided the Cougars to an upset win over Poly on the Broncos' court Monday night after suffering a loss to Poly earlier in the season at Azusa.

In fact, Hamlow might not return home to Azusa.

The Cougars have won three in a row — all on the road — after experiencing a rare eight-game losing streak.

On the other hand, Poly might be better off staying on the road after Monday's 59-58 loss to Azusa in the Broncos' home opener after 10 consecutive road games.

Azusa (5-8) made Poly play at its tempo in a game which remained close all the way with the biggest point spread being a five-point margin by the Broncs late in the first half.

"I believe Poly got only one fast break against us all night," Hamlow said. "We knew we had to keep them away from any breaks. This was a good team win and that's what makes it rewarding. Everybody contributed."

For Poly (3-8), it was a frustrating night.

"We didn't put it together," said Bronco coach Don Hogan. "I'm confident we are a much better team than we looked tonight. Right now, we're struggling. We have to get it together real quick."

Poly has only two more games remaining before opening California Collegiate Athletic Association (CCAA) play at UC Riverside on Friday, Jan. 14.

The shooting statistics tell the story.

APC hit on 53 per cent in making 24 of 45 shots while Poly was ice cold in hitting on only 37 per cent (23 of 63).

Reserve guard Milt Hernandez was Azusa's big hero as he sank eight of 10 field goals to lead both teams in scoring with 16 points.

Center Brian Hovey scored the big points when he tipped in a rebound with 1:05 left to give the Cougars a 58-57 lead.

After Jack Gamulin's basket put Poly ahead again, Hovey scored on a layup to restore Azusa's lead with 25 seconds on the clock.

Poly had two final shots at a winning basket but both attempts were off target.

The Broncos return to action at home Saturday night against Cal State Dominguez Hills.

Rodgers jumps to San Diego

SAN DIEGO (AP)— Johnny Rodgers says money and the fear of ending up stuck in Canada are the reasons for his jump from the Canadian Football League to the National Football League San Diego Chargers.

Charger owner Eugene Klein announced Monday the signing of Rodgers to "a long series" of one-year contracts, terms of which were not disclosed.

He said a 30-day option in his Montreal contract allowed him to sign with the Chargers.

Poly women host Irvine tonight

Darlene May's Cal Poly Pomona women's basketball team will resume a busy and so far prosperous season tonight when it hosts UC Irvine in the women's gym on campus.

Taking on such teams as USC Friday, Cal State Fullerton (Jan. 12), and the University of Nebraska (Jan. 14), Cal Poly's women will definitely have their hands full as they start the new year. Each game starts at 8 p.m.

The Broncos (4-1) will have six straight home games in January, prior to traveling to San Jose State (Jan. 21) and San Francisco State (Jan. 22). Cal Poly returns to entertain Cal State Northridge and Cal Poly San Luis Obispo to close out the month.

The Broncos were champions of their own Second Annual Invitational Tournament in December, as they won three consecutive games, topping San Diego State (103-38), USC (96-68), and Long Beach State (81-67).

Last week Cal Poly fell for the first time this season to UCLA, 84-76. The Broncos had previously beaten Arizona State, 65-56 in the year's opening contest.

"Fullerton and Nebraska will be the highlight of the homestand in January," said coach May. "We have had a good team effort in our games so far. We have real good bench strength, which gives us a balanced scoring attack.

"Our starting five has been doing a real fine job. They have a lot of quickness and good shooting ability."

The starting group that the coach is so impressed with includes Mary Reichert at center, Joan Uhl and Linda Scheenstra at forwards, and Musiette McKinney and Marie Hollis at guards.

Reichert is the leading scorer with a 12.4 average.

While coach May travels to the Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women (AIAW) National Delegate Assembly in Memphis, Tenn., this week, assistant coach Joan Bonvicini is in control of the Broncos.

Tigers upset Irish

By Associated Press

It's back to the drawing board to work on fundamentals today for Notre Dame's slumping basketball team and dejected Coach Digger Phelps.

Notre Dame, No. 8 in this week's Associated Press poll, absorbed its second straight setback Monday night, losing on the road to unranked Princeton 76-62.

The Tigers utilized a tenacious defense and had little trouble solving Notre Dame's full-court press. The Fighting Irish failed to rattle Princeton, which worked the ball around for good shots and hit with consistency.

"Believe it or not," said Phelps, "we're a pressing team."

Bill Omeltchenko and Tim Olah, the Tigers' guards, displayed sound ballhandling ability. They dribbled around the Irish kill time and consistently hit the open man, passing off with precision to set up the shots.

"But the other thing that beat us was turnovers," added Phelps.

Duffy tied for lead

Damien High's Bill Duffy has moved into a tie for the lead in the Progress Bulletin's prep basketball scoring derby.

Duffy has scored 189 points in nine games for an average of 21 points per contest. His average in the last scoring derby was 20.4.

Gregg Guenther of La Verne Lutheran, which has been idle since the last derby, still has 168 points in eight games for a 21-point average.

Walnut's Jeff Davis, with 20.5 points per outing, is the only other player in the area averaging over 20 points.

Two schools — Walnut and Garey — each have a pair of players among the top 10. The Mustangs' Davis is joined by No. 8 Doug Vind, with a 16.8 average. Garey's James Lofton (18.9) and Herbi Banks (16.7) rank fourth and 10th.

Ontario Christian's Hank Bouwman, Ganesha's James Verdon, Chino's Roger Hairston and San Dimas' Mark Klein round out the top 10. Verdon, Vind and Klein are juniors.

Pete Cross dead at 28

REDMOND, Wash. (AP) — Pete Cross, 28, the Seattle SuperSonics' third-round draft choice in 1970, was found dead in his home Sunday by his wife.

She told police that her husband had experienced mild seizures since 1971 and that he had complained only of "feeling tired" recently. She said she left home about noon Sunday and returned three hours later to find him in bed with his head and torso over the side.

Cross was a manager for Trans-America Title Insurance Co.

Cross attended the University of San Francisco. He was the leading rebounder for the Sonics in 1970-71.

In 1972, Cross was traded to Kansas City, but appeared in only three games for the team before being re-acquired by Seattle. He played sparingly the rest of the season and announced his retirement from the National Basketball Association in 1973.

Cross spent the 1974-75 season playing with the Iberian Superstars in the short-lived European pro basketball league.

When December arrived, the Texas Rangers had two fine shortstops — Toby Harrah and Bert Campaneris, the latter having played out his option with Oakland.

MERIT 100's!

'Enriched Flavor'™ process applied to new low tar 100mm cigarette with striking success.

Only MERIT has the 'Enriched Flavor' process. A way of packing tobacco with extra flavor without the usual increase in tar.

MERIT created a whole new taste standard in low tar smoking.

Now that same taste science has produced a 100mm cigarette.

MERIT 100's.

Only 12 mg. tar.

Yet smokers actually like the taste of MERIT 100's as much as higher tar 100mm brands.

Kings: 9 mg. "tar," 0.7 mg. nicotine—
100's: 12 mg. "tar," 0.9 mg. nicotine av. per cigarette by FTC Method.

Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined That Cigarette Smoking Is Dangerous to Your Health.

MERIT & MERIT MENTHOL. KINGS & 100's.

Test Data Conclusive

New 12 mg. tar MERIT 100's were taste-tested against a number of major 100mm brands ranging from 17 mg. to 19 mg. tar.

Thousands of smokers were tested.* The results: overall, they liked the taste of MERIT 100's as much as the higher tar 100mm brands tested.

MERIT and MERIT MENTHOL. King Size and new 100's.

The taste barrier for low tar smoking has been broken again.
